REPUBLICAN TICKET.

Election, Tuesday, Nov. 7th.
CONGRESSIONAL TICKET.

For Congress—First District—
CHARLES G. WILLIAMS, of Rock.

A Fireman's Tournament will take place at South Bend, Indiana, on the 6th and 7th of September, at which $25,000 will be paid for prizes. Railways will carry passengers to the tournament for two cents a mile.

A suggestion in the right direction from the Evening Wisconsin: "Public sentiment would hardly be greatly outraged if the good people of Connecticut should arise and mob the jury that acquitted the Malloys. For its members to meet at Savin Rock, where Jennie Cramer was murdered, on the anniversary of the awful crime, and become intoxicated together, is outrageous common decency beyond expression."

The temperance movement in Indiana is progressing in such a fashion as to astonish the friends of Prohibition and confound the Democrats. Some of the better class of Democrats have become disgusted with the attitude of their party, and many prominent ones have come out openly pronouncing in favor of the Republican ticket. The Indiana Democrats are as badly disorganized and muddled as any set of Democrats in this country. Their stupidity and blunders have made their defeat a certainty.

The State Board of Charities and Reform will show in their report for 1881, that in this State there were twenty-eight cases of murder before the Wisconsin courts during the year ending December 31, 1881. In these cases there were five convictions. The total number of other felonies before the courts was 537, of which there were 189 convictions. There were 4,092 offenses of a still minor nature, and 3,215 convictions. LaFayette county had three murder trials, the largest number possessed by any one county.

The Rev. Mr. Williamson, of Chicago, preached a sermon on Sunday evening in that city, in which he gave young men some advice in regard to getting married. He said: "Before getting married, every young man should read 'Pilgrim's Progress,' 'Paley's Evidences of Christianity,' 'Butler's Analogy,' Herodotus, Josephus, Bancroft, Locke, Bacon, Macaulay, Milton, and parts of Shakespeare." If Mr. Williamson had only omitted 'Butler's Analogy,' Bancroft, and Locke, the dose would not have been so bad. Evidently Mr. Williamson wants to place a stumbling block in the way of marriage.

The Iowa delegation in the National Prohibition Convention at Chicago, opposed the plan to organize a third party. They wanted to stay with the Republican party, which had given the temperance movement its chief support. It seems that the call required every one in the Convention to be a third party man or woman, and the chair decided that the Iowa delegation could not be members of the Convention. The proposition to separate entirely from the Republican party will meet with considerable opposition among the temperance people. For the present, at least, such a movement would be in the interest of the Democratic party.

Chicago papers report that the crops are good in all the western and northwestern districts except in the vicinity of Janesville; and that there the farmers are putting the torch to the shocks of miserable wheat. We have some doubt of the truth of this statement, so we call upon the Gazette to ask and explain why the farmers in Rock county have suffered their severely in blasted cereals. Evening Wisconsin.

The statement published in the Republican-Sentinel and in the Inter-Ocean that some farmers were burning their crop of spring wheat, the Gazette regrets to say is true. But this condition of things does not exist all over the county by any means. It is on Rock Prairie where the greatest injury has been done the wheat crop. When the harvesters were put in the fields the crop of spring wheat was exceedingly promising, to all appearances, but when the grain was put in the shock it was found to be so shrunken as not to be worth the stacking, and accordingly Mr. David Barless burned 45 acres in the shock, and others on Rock Prairie have burned up their entire spring wheat crop in the same way. In other parts of the county the wheat crop, like all other crops, is exceptionally good.

The time has come when liquor manufacturers and liquor dealers should calmly consider whether they are drifting. If we look back a few years we will see that the entire destruction of slavery was effected by the defiant boast of the slave-power. There was nothing which contributed so much to the downfall of the cursed institution than the dominating and threatening attitude of the slave aristocracy of the South. They went one step too far—the rebellion came and with it the freedom of the slave. Then, only a few years ago, the railways became unsteady and even high-handed, and the farming element became united against railway corporations. The legislation in many of the States, especially in Wisconsin, which quickly followed, was prompted solely by the defiant conduct of the railways. Now comes the liquor-manufacturers and liquor-dealers with the same spirit which resulted in rebellion and in Grainger legislation. For some time they have been attempting to bully political parties, have shown considerable insolence and a law-defying spirit, and have been engaged in the attempt to dominate over Legislatures and State governments. There is just such a thing as going one step too far in this kind of work. They can't fool with the people very long. Wisdom on the part of liquor associations, will make the result of the coming contest less destructive to their own interests, but a perverse spirit, and a defiance of public sentiment, will ultimately crush the power that now defies will of the people. Of such resentments the liquor interest now shows, has come the great political changes in this country during the past twenty years.

On Wednesday evening several of the State officers and members of Congress and other prominent men, left Madison for an excursion to Winnipeg. The railway company placed an elegant sleeper at the service of the excursionists, which was attached to the St. Paul express at Madison. The names of the excursionists are as follows:

Governor J. M. Rusk.
Lieutenant-Governor Sam S. Pritchard.
Attorney-General L. F. Pringle.
Railroad Commissioner M. P. Haugen.
Superintendent of Public Instruction Robert Graham.
Assistant State Treasurer J. A. McBridge.
Congressman Charles G. Williams, of Janesville.
Congressman L. B. Caswell, of Ft. Atkinson.
Hon. G. W. K. Davis, of St. Paul, Minn.
Professor Edward S. Holden, director of Washington Observatory.
Colonel J. G. McGinn, of McGinn's Academy, Racine.
Judge N. S. Gilson, of the Fond du Lac judicial circuit.
Colonel F. W. Runtelotte, of Chicago.
Hon. N. B. Van Slyke, president First National Bank, Madison.
Ex-Speaker P. L. Gilson, of River Falls.
Hon. W. S. Greene, of Milwaukee.
Dr. Nelson Gregory, of Paris, France.
Dr. M. M. Davis, of Baraboo.
Mr. Charles Gregory, of Madison.
Mr. E. H. Craig, of Virgo.
Mr. J. H. Myers, of Lake Mills.
Mr. Reuben G. Thwaites, of the State Journal.

The trip will occupy about five or six days, and will be "delightfully interesting."

MAINE INDEPENDENTS.

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 23.—The Independent Republican party announces the following platform: Upon full consultation and correspondence with the leading men of all parts of the State, the following platform has been adopted for the Independent Republican party: 1. Thorough and systematic reform in all branches of the civil service. 2. Faithful execution of the laws in all parts of the State, including the liquor law and laws for the observance of the Sabbath, having temperance without hypocrisy and prohibition without drunkenness. 3. Strict economy in the expenditure of public money, and consequent reduction of taxes. 4. Opposition to machine politics, boss rule, political assessments, bribery, and fraud in controlling elections and conventions.

IOWA BREWERS.

DAYTON, Aug. 23.—A meeting of the brewers of Iowa was held to-day at Turner hall. There were thirty-six persons in attendance, including representatives of Dubuque, Cedar Rapids, Marion, McGregor, Boone, Keokuk, Sioux City, Burlington, Des Moines, Marengo, New Hampton, Bellevue, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Council Bluffs, Strawberry Point, Wilton, Cedar Falls, Waverly, Buffalo, Oklawaha, Clinton, and Lyons. Chicago was also represented. The meeting was strictly private, reporters being excluded. It is learned that the brewers decided to continue their business despite the prohibitory amendment, and to fight the law to the last. They will make common cause against the law in behalf of any one against whom proceedings are commenced.

SQUEALING.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The charges made against Gov. Cornell regarding the "blind pool" of American District Telegraph stock are corroborated by E. W. Andrews, former president of that company, who says in an interview that proposed to him to make up a combination to push up the price. He consented to the arrangement and signed a paper, but put no money into the scheme. The stock was then 65 or 70, and went up to 74. Twenty-three thousand shares of the 30,000 comprising the capital stock belonged to the Cornell estate. It was called one of the most successful operations there had ever been in Wall street. "Cornell has to give me a chance to make something. I took no money out, and that was the last I ever knew of it."

A WELSH COLONY.

RACINE, Aug. 23.—Rev. J. P. Williams, of this city, and Rev. Samuel Phillips, of Dodgeville, left here yesterday for Dakota, where they will complete arrangements for the formation of a Welsh colony in the eastern portion of Buffalo county. Two hundred families from the Eastern States and from Wales will be sent out before next spring. It is stated that an immense immigration of Welsh will mark the year 1883. A recent visitor to the old country (Wales) says that a general desire is manifested by the people there to come to the new world, and that Wisconsin, Minnesota and Dakota are the points to which they seem most desirous of coming.

STATE MILITIA IN CAMP.

OSHKOSH, Aug. 23.—The annual encampment of the Second Regiment Wisconsin National Guard, began here to-day auspiciously. The camp is situated on a tract of about three acres near the fair ground. The companies and number of men in attendance are as follows: Oshkosh Guards, 43; Ripon Guards, 30; Appleton Light Infantry, 34; Ripon Rifles, 33; Oshkosh Rifles, 34; Rockin Guards, 38; Fond du Lac Guards, 38; total 272. Only two companies in the Regiment are not here, the Sheboygan Company and the Evergreen Guards, of Manitowish. The camp is in command of Col. Bond. The encampment will last a week, and on Saturday or Monday the Regiment will be inspected by Governor Rusk and Adjutant General Chapman.

THE FIRE RECORD.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 23.—The main mill of the Syracuse Iron Works burned last night. Loss, $54,000. Three hundred men are thrown out of work.

ATTON, Ill., Aug. 23.—Last night about 10 o'clock C. W. Kaufman's large flouring-mill at Bethalto was discovered to be on fire. The fire being originated in some part of the machinery by overheating. The mill was the largest in this part of the State, and cost about $100,000. It was entirely consumed, together with a large elevator, which stood a short distance from the mill, containing 35,000 bushels of wheat, and a warehouse containing several thousand barrels of flour. Several small buildings in close proximity to the mill and elevator were burned. The total loss will be about $140,000; insurance on mill, 60,000, in various companies.

MILWAUKEE EXPOSITION.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 23.—The troublesome question as to whether or not the Exposition should be open on Sunday is again before the directors of that institution for decision, and is being pretty generally discussed throughout the city. The new Liberal League, formed of the adherents or indorsees of D. M. Bennett, the noted New York Liberalist, is circulating a petition, which is receiving many signatures, asking that the Exposition be kept open on that day. Inasmuch as the German element represented in the management of the Exposition succeeded in securing the privilege of selling beer in a building, the more the Liberalists the Sunday question will be decided in favor of the liberalists. The subject is arousing a good deal of feeling among the religious organizations of the city.

All is Fair in Love and War.

(Chicago Tribune.)

Two hours have passed. So have seven or eight hours, care, but the one for which Vivian is waiting. Finally comes along and soon lands him at the door of Percier O'Rourke's house. Edelhertha is sitting in her boudoir (high-toned word for room), sewing some foamy lace into the neck of a velvet dress, as the young man entered:

"I have had news for you, my darling," Vivian says in sad tones, while a don't bluff-or-you-will-be-called look comes over his face.

Bertie nodded a little dimpled hands confidently in his. "Tell it to me at once, sweet," she said, "only with you alive and well nothing could be so very dreadful."

Vivian looked at her with a wonderful grave tenderness in his blue eyes.

He was sighing her up.

"My father and I have quarreled, and he has disinherited me. I have—"

and here his voice quivered slightly—"been given the p. l. on your account. I am a beggar, Bertie."

Her soft, husky eyes grew wider and more serious.

"Yes," continued the suitor, "I am poor. But I wouldn't care if it wasn't for you, darling. It means that I must give you up, for I can't ask you to share life with me on a thousand a year."

She looked at him with a rich crimson blush surging into her cheeks. If it had been a full Vivian would probably have under, but a flush could never scare him.

"Vivian," she said passionately, "do you think I will let you give me up? I love you too well for that. A beggar or a prince, you are all the same to me—my king, my lover."

And he folded her to his heart with a great, almost speechless tenderness and joy.

"My darling, my precious," he whispered.

Three months, on a golden December afternoon, with a blue sky as in June, there was a grand wedding at the O'Rourke mansion. As Vivian and Edelhertha were entering the carriage that was to bear them to the depot she looked at him with a weirdly precious smile.

"And so you would not desert me, darling," he said, "even when you thought I was poor?"

"No, my precious one," was the reply. "I haven't long ago that a suitor once off the hook will never bite again, and your father and I put up the job so as to land you a little quicker."

Photographing the Baby.

(Boston Post.)

By the time the start for the gallery is made the baby is thoroughly exhausted and out of patience. The whole party go along, of course.

When the gallery is reached, cooing and tickling and baby talk all fail to put the subject into a good humor. One says she doesn't see what makes him so cross. Another wonders what makes him act so. Still another declares that he must be sick. The photographer then comes to the rescue. He has had experience in many just such cases, and knows what to do. He cannot do anything but what is a novelty to the baby, and he generally succeeds in quieting the child and successfully producing his likeness. He does it in the midst of difficulties though. He has all the elderly attendants of the baby to combat at first. They finally realize the fact that the artist can do better without their efforts, and as they go homeward one says:

"How quickly he got the baby still. It's perfectly wonderful. Some men do take to children that way and can do anything they want with them. I don't wonder they take all their babies to him to have their pictures taken."
